Food & Dining

Centrally located in the Pacific, Majuro serves as the melting pot of international cuisine. Whether it's Chinese, Korean, Vietnamese, Japanese, Indian, Western or local food that your taste buds are craving, you can be assured that the selection of restaurants on Majuro Atoll will be able to satisfy your palate.

Just ask your hotel staff to point

Local Flavor

In a country surrounded by the ocean depths, you can understand why seafood is a popular choice for everyone. Fresh tuna prepared island style or served as Sashimi is one way to experience some of the delights of the sea.

Some local favorites include sliced, cooked breadfruit with coconut milk sauce, pumpkin with coconut milk sauce and crushed banana mixed with grated coconut.

you in the right direction or contact us at 625-MIVA (6482) for a list of the hot spots and off the beaten track local favorites.
