

Once there was a little boy named Tim. He had a sister named Pam. Pam and Tim loved to hike in the woods. One day, as they were walking, they took a wrong turn. Soon they were lost. They walked and walked but couldn't find the right path. They were very sleepy. Just then, they saw a big sign and Tim went up to read it. The sign said "City of Make Believe." There was an arrow pointing straight ahead. The children decided to go to the Make Believe City to try to find someone to help them get home.
